Message From the Acting Vice Chancellor

Prof. Oladele Arowolo
Acting Vice Chancellor
PhD.; MA.; BA (Demography).

It gives me a great pleasure to welcome you all to the first IUM Convocation ceremony. In the past, the university went through the route of conferring honours and degrees/certificates on deserving graduands at the annual Graduation Ceremony, as we did in September 2019 at the 15th graduation ceremony. In many ways, year 2020 is different; it has emerged as a year like no other, with COVID-19 as a dominant driving force in decision making at individual, family, community, corporate, national, regional and global levels. Given the restrictions associated with the prevailing COVID-19 measures, we have been constrained to go virtual.

GRADUATING STUDENTS: In the circumstance in which our country, like many others throughout the world, has found itself since mid-February this year, the delivery of our programme has been through a hybrid of the conventional face-to-face teaching and e-learning, otherwise known as blended learning. The move to the new modality of course delivery has not been easy; it called for improvisation, dedication and commitment by both our innovative staff and adventurous students. It is for the above reasons that I would like to sincerely congratulate our graduates who are being conferred with their degrees, certificates and diplomas today. You are a unique breed; you have successfully emerged from a challenging exposure in the last year of your academic experience. Congratulations!!!!

The last year of your study has exposed you to what it means to work online, to complete your assignments using an established online institutional platform, to engage your boss or colleagues at zoom-supported meetings, or operate remotely from your base. This experience has prepared you for the new normal in the labour market and should put you at an advantage. However, dear graduands, you will need more than skills acquired and the Certificates awarded to you today for you to adjust and survive in the world you must now face. Besides your skills, you must have the will to survive. It is your will and determination to succeed, that will carry you through the various of the current development paradigm which is characterized by fast-pace technological development, international trade wars, the tumult of civil rights demonstrations in many nations, and the unpredictability of the course of the COVID-19 pandemic.

INSTITUTIONAL CAPACITY: In response to the challenge posed by the COVID-19 lockdown measures on teaching and learning, lectures were taken through the process of making presentations that are in digital format, using the newly established IUM Learning Management Systems (IUM-LMS). As part of the on-going e-learning capacity strengthening, the Google Assignments has been provided to all IUM lecturers at elearn.ium.edu.na. Google assignments bring the collaborative power of G Suite to our IUM Moodle Learning Management System (LMS). It also ensures student work is authentic with originality reports. In case of any problem, you can contact Google product experts by asking questions in the Assignments Community Forum. In order to further strengthen the e-learning approach, each Faculty established an LMS Content Development Committee (CDC), to readjust the current content to the quality of teaching materials fit for the IUM-LMS formats, and in accordance with the policies and regulations of NCHE and NQA.

ACADEMIC AND ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF: I salute all our academic and administrative staff across our campuses, for your industrious dedication and creativity in one form or another during this turbulent year. When the COVID-19 restrictive measures came in force in March 2020, staff members quickly moved to remote working, including teaching and learning. Lectures were taken through the process of making presentations that are in digital format; it is related to the content that lecturers have been using for traditional face-to-face teaching. Part of the upshot of your contributions is what we are witnessing at this Convocation ceremony today.

POLICY & OVERSIGHT: I would like to commend the EXCO for its prompt response to the unfolding public drama of policy change since February this year when COVID-19 came knocking our doors. I would also like to thank the IUM Governing Council, through its Chairman and Founder, Hon. Prof. David R. Namwandi, for their astute management oversight that has seen the university through the murky waters of COVID-19 pandemic restrictive measures which negatively affected students, staff and guardians in different ways.

Thank you!
